

ABSTRACT

An apparatus includes an integrated circuit (IC) die having a substrate formed of a first semiconductor material and a cooling device formed of a second semiconductor material. The cooling device is directly mounted to the substrate of the IC die.